

David Mark K. Danielson, DO

Dr. David Mark K. Danielson is a board certified radiologist from Dupont, Washington. He is also Associate Professor at USUHS.

Philips Ultrasound Clinical Service Specialists will assist in the course delivery.

Courses

Ultrasound of the Abdominal Wall and Peritoneum (GISP018VILT)

This one hour Virtual Speaker-Led Training course is designed to provide customers knowledge on ultrasound of the abdominal wall and peritoneum. Program topics include a review of the anatomy, exam indications and techniques. The course will also cover abnormalities of the abdominal wall and peritoneum encountered on ultrasound evaluation.

Ultrasound of the Adrenal Glands (GISP019VILT)

This one hour Virtual Speaker-Led Training course is designed to provide customers knowledge on ultrasound of the adrenal glands. Program topics include a review of the anatomy, exam indications and techniques. The course will also cover abnormalities of the adrenal glands encountered on ultrasound evaluation.

Ultrasound of the Biliary System (GISP020VILT)

This one hour Virtual Speaker-Led Training course is designed to provide customers on ultrasound of ultrasound of the biliary system. Program topics include a review of the anatomy, exam indications and techniques. The course will also cover abnormalities of the biliary system encountered on ultrasound evaluation.